

Ĺĩřáúáňóáĩ Ĺėňúĩáĩĩĩá ĩáňėááėá

Ĺĩřáúáňóáĩ Ĺėňúĩáĩĩĩá ĩáňėááėá
07.09.2014 Ĺ.

In this paper the possibilities of the Russian National Corpus as a diachronic research instrument are presented. Currently the corpus includes deeply annotated Old East Slavic texts (manuscripts and birchbark letters) as well as Middle Russian texts still lacking grammatical information. It is shown that usage of both corpora yields new results in studying rare forms such as the pluperfect and prefixed comparatives; examples of these results are given.

sichinava_elmanuscript2014 (784.38 kB)